Do not let this opportunity to savor a shot of tequila with a slice of lime, or for the more adventerous out there, why not try Raicilla another agavae based liquor with a much more potent bite.

Local Transport

Buses

Frequent and numerous buses service many routes on the town’s streets. They are identified by number and are easily by color: the blue colored buses run the route from downtown to Marina Vallarta to downtown. Fare is approximately $.50 US. Tips are included in the fare.

Taxis

Taxis are available all around the city (with a fleet of over 1,000 licensed taxis). They are not equipped with meters but instead charge by zones. They charge a minimum of approximately $3.50 US and a set amount of approximately $1.50 US for each zone crossing. Therefore if you travel from downtown to Marina Vallarta you would be crossing 3 zones and the fare will be approximately $8.00 US. Tips are included in the fare.

Air Services

Puerto Vallarta’s newly renovated and expanded Gustavo Diaz Ordaz International Airport is well connected to North America’s main gateways. Its modern and spacious installations double the number of available jet bridges for enhanced passenger comfort and moving walkways connect it to the main terminal. New and improved immigration facilities as well as an updated baggage claim system also allow for quicker arrivals formalities. The new satellite building also houses exclusive open spaces for art and photography exhibits by local artists. Year-round and seasonal service is provided by different airlines in addition to numerous seasonal charters.

Cruise Ship Terminal

Puerto Vallarta is one of the most popular ports of call for cruise ships on Mexico’s Pacific coast. An ambitious renovation and expansion program of the port’s facilities was recently completed under strict safety and environmental standards. The cruise port is now able to simultaneously accommodate three full-size cruise ships. Each dock can accommodate ships up to 331 meters (1,020 feet) long. The port authority has determined that each dock can accommodate up to 3,000 passengers at a time. The new world-class terminal has been built for that purpose.
